

GENERAL NEWS

BUSINESS BRIEFS: INDEPENDENCE DAY

405 words

26 June 2003

York Daily Record

YKDR

A08

English

Copyright (c) 2003 Bell & Howell Information and Learning Company. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 2055 Page 1

Realtors to plant flags

In honor of Independence Day, Realtors and others associated with Coldwell Banker Bob Yost Homesale Services in Springettsbury Township will decorate various communities in York and Adams counties with 24,000 American flags.

The flag planting will take place July 2.

The Realtors and their families will plant most of the flags at random in York, Dallastown, Hanover and Gettysburg.

IMAGING Free seminar planned

DocuScan USA in Manchester Township will hold a free seminar on document imaging from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. July 11 at Heritage Hills Resort and Conference Center in York Township.

The seminar will cover electronic document storage and retrieval options and disaster recovery.

The company will provide a complimentary lunch.

DocuScan USA is a full-service document imaging provider that supplies software, image-capture hardware, technical support and backfile scanning services to business and professional firms in the Mid-Atlantic region. For details, 846-8886.

JAMES CRAFT & SON Contractor to upgrade gym

York Haven-based James Craft & Son will be completing HVAC/ electrical up grades to the gymnasium at Fort Indiantown Gap in Annville.

The company will install two new boilers, piping and air handling units.

Charlie Wolf bid the $466,639 project for the company.

Red Stoner will oversee the work as project manager, and Rick Campbell is the superintendent.

James Craft & Son is a full-service commercial HVAC contractor.

RITE AID CASE Defendants change pleas

HARRISBURG The remaining two defendants in the Rite Aid accounting scandal have agreed to change their pleas, a spokesman for the U.S. District Court said Wednesday.

Franklin C. Brown, the company's former chief counsel and board vice president, and Eric Sorkin, who is on administrative leave as the company's vice president for pharmacy purchasing, are scheduled to change their innocent pleas at separate hearings today, Courtroom Deputy Mark Armbruster said.

Sorkin is scheduled to enter a guilty plea, according to court documents. Other court documents said Brown will enter a change of plea, but provided no additional details.

ETC.